

3x3 basketball

A new form of the game called 3x3, also known as street basketball, is played three a side on one hoop. It is the largest urban team sport of the world. This basketball discipline is currently being promoted and structured by FIBA the sport's world governing body.

The main rules of 3x3 are as follows:

- One basket on one half-court.
- 2 teams of 3 players and up to one substitute per team.
- 12 seconds shot clock.
- 1st team to reach 21 points or best after 10 minutes wins.

Playing court

A regular 3x3 court playing surface is 15m wide x 11m long.

The court has a regular basketball playing court sized zone, including a free throw line (5.80m), a two point line (6.75m) and a "no-charge semi-circle" area underneath the one basket.

Half a traditional basketball court may be used.

Mini-basketball

Mini-basketball is a game for boys and girls who are eleven years or under in the year the competition begins.

Mini-basketball is played by 2 teams of 5 players each. The aim of each team is to score in the opponents' basket and to prevent the other team from scoring.

Court dimensions

The playing court has a flat, hard surface free from obstructions.

The dimensions of the courts may vary to account for local facilities. The standard size is 28m long and 15m wide.

It can be scaled down in size, providing the variations are in the same proportions from 26m x 14m to 12m x 7m.

Note: It is important that the free throw line is 4m to the backboard.

Bocce bowls

Bocce court dimensions

Overall dimensions

Bocce is played on a variety of surfaces such as carpet, crushed stone, dirt, oyster shells, clay, and most recently synthetic carpets and poured liquid creating a smooth, extremely fast surface.

Areas of the court

A regulation court is a maximum 4m wide and a maximum 26.5m long.

Regulation bocce courts have a raised barrier around the edge of the rectangle. This measures to a maximum of 20cm high.
